

How to become a biodiversity hero

Chapter 3: The DIY-Person

Javier dreams about building a new garden shed. To find the perfect wood, Javier looks for labels that certify that the wood comes from sustainably managed forests.

Know your materials like Javier does!

Wood is an important natural resource for construction and furniture. Yet some forestry practices are short-sighted and harmful to nature. Sustainably managed forests (e.g. FSC-certified forests) support a greater diversity of wildlife than non-certified logging sites.<sup>4</sup>
